

Kriya Yoga

We have already seen that Kriya Yoga reduces the intensity of the Kleshas (Sutra I.1 and II.2).

What is Kriya Yoga?

Kriya Yoga can be defined as the practice of yoga through action. Kriya Yoga encompasses the practice of Niyamas, Tapas, Svadhyaya and Ishvarapranidhana.

We can establish that the causes of stress or Kleshas are due to the context of one's current environment and the predisposing factor (being inclined to develop such an illness or affliction).

Kriya Yoga corrects this predisposing factor. These effects have been proven centuries and centuries.

Tapas represents the fire of determination that purifies the body and mind of their impurities. Pranayamas or breathing exercises, are very effective in bringing Tapas into action (10 rounds a day).

"Practicing tapas everyday clears your body and mind, and prevent you from diseases and negative darkness... Tapas is the cleansing fire but beware of it's power : it can burn you to the bone and you know what I am talking about..."

Redempted Sith Master Jedi Anakin D. Skywalker.

Svadhyaya is the repetition of mantras and the study of sacred spiritual texts. It enables you to gain insight into your inner self. A good exercise for developing Svadhyaya is to recite AUM 10 times, with a period of silence between each mantra, and to observe this silence deeply.

"Svadyaya is not only about the study the sacred texts. You can read One Piece for example 😊. In One piece is a story about friendship and dreams, it is a funny way to practice Svadyaya. hihhi !! What Master Yoga ??.... a ... good... thought... padawan !! OOOHHHHHH I am not happy at all nono, hihihihhi, nooooo, hihhi"

Padawan Tony Tony D.Chopper

Ishvarapranidhan is about submitting body and soul to God to show your love for Him. You can recite any mantra or song 10 times a day, with regularity and application, to see spectacular effects. After a week's practice of the Kriyās, you could experience stability, serenity of body and mind for everyone.

Finally, the beneficial effects of Kriya Yoga are the basis for achieving Samadhi. The state of attaining Samadhi is called Ashtanga Yoga (The 8 limbs of Yoga).
