

Introduction

"Om Saha Nau-Avatu
Saha Nau Bhunaktu
Saha Viiryam Karavaavahai
Tejasvi Nau-Adhiitam-Astu Maa
Vidvissaavahai Om Shaantih Om Shaantih
Om Shaantih"

"Om, may God protect us (teacher and student) May God feed us both,
May we work together with energy and vigor,
May our study be enlightening and not hostility.
Om, peace, peace, peace"

This mantra is a prayer dedicated to the protection of students.
He preaches the nourishment of our spirit through knowledge. He prays for the intellectual development of teachers and students.
This prayer pays tribute to knowledge and its central place in our lives and helps to avoid any discord between student and teacher.

"AUUUMMMM, Shanti, Shanti, Shanti"

Why the 3 Shanti ?

Shanti, which means peace, is uttered three times to soothe the 3 forms of suffering/pain/affliction.

They include :

- Aadhatmik (self-inflicted suffering): When you drink too much, for example, the next day you have a severe headache...
 - Aadhibautik (suffering inflicted on fellow human beings): physical and verbal violence.
 - Aadhidaivik (Nature's afflictions): tsunamis, , forest fires...
- The 3 Shantis protect us from these 3 types of suffering.

Philosophy, from ancient Greek (composed of philein: "to love"; and sophia:

"Wisdom" or "knowledge"), literally meaning "love of wisdom", is a process of critical reflection and questioning about the world, knowledge and human existence.

The mother of all sciences, science seeks answers. Philosophy questions these answers.

There are 9 philosophies descended from the Vedas:

1. Samkhya
2. Yoga
3. Nyaya
4. Vaisheshika
5. Mimansa
6. Vedanta
7. Buddhism
8. Jainism
9. Chavrak

"Focus on philosophy of Yoga we will.

Meanwhile, listen and sing AUM as many times you wish... Quiet your mind you must.

Only then, study Darshan you will be able to"
