

Résumé (English)

Episode 4 of White Mirror opens with 10-year-old Monkey leaving a castle in the family BMW, forced to move into a graffiti-covered house in a Parisian suburb due to financial setbacks. Amid Mozart and Pantera, family humor shines as Monkey curiously explores his new life. Twenty-five years after the announcement, in Palestine, Said (15) and Benjamin (16) stage a mock war in a Dream Station, interrupted by their moms who ground them. Back at Said's, they work with their grandpa Momo on a flying Jerusalem university project using DTMap and an AI. A hilarious ad features Jack Chirac facing a futuristic RATP robot, followed by another with Jean-Marc, a former campsite manager turned explorer thanks to the Dream Truth Community. The episode ends with a surprise Ferrari for Papi Momo, and a mysterious post-credit with Chirac announcing "The Return of Beauxbâtons".